

A 1,000 Decisions that Lead to Now

Success and breakthroughs to what you want don't usually happen with just one action or step. They are often a result of many right choices and decisions made along the way. Even small ones that seem insignificant or unimportant can impact and affect new directions showing up later.

Each ordinary decision can lead to your extraordinary:

Each decision is a decision: The times when you've deliberately chosen a positive action such as affirming words, forgiveness, or Higher energies of love and compassion over anger or the need to be right, can influence and even create future opportunities. These subtle and consistent positive thoughts and actions create a higher vibrational energy and Light that draw in new special possibilities and directions for you.

The power is now: The positive choices and awareness that you make in each moment and consistent daily focus on what you want can contribute to future breakthroughs and unexpected new doors opening. Every time you consciously stay optimistic or rise above a challenging or negative situation, it generates energies which can lead to joyful possibilities and new avenues for abundance for you.

We continually make subtle choices and decisions throughout each day. With awareness, you can harness and direct these energies so that a 1,000 small decisions lead to breakthroughs, miracles, and Divine outcomes especially for you.

In Light, Nancy Robinson

Angels Becoming-But We're Human Too

I consciously try to live from higher spaces of energy and access the highest spiritual levels that I can. I've also deliberately developed my Light body (a finer, higher vibrational state of consciousness) which many believe is our next evolutionary step to higher levels of Light.

It's exciting to enjoy these spaces, and it's important for spiritual progress, but I've learned with my own healing that it's just as important to embrace the parts of me that are still very human. When I'm able to accept my thoughts, feelings, emotions, or body-physical concerns in addition to the higher spiritual levels, the energies around an issue that I'm working on seem to shift much faster.

When I work with a client, I can activate high levels of energy and light for transforming their lives. This is important to help them, but if they aren't willing to address the human-level concerns of feeling emotions, changing thoughts and beliefs, diet changes and other practical areas after the session, they don't seem to reach the full potential of their healing.

It's often said that we're spiritual beings having a human experience, but what we experience at the human level deserves our acknowledgement as well. Today, strive to be your most enlightened self while embracing what makes you uniquely human. As you do, it allows for new growth and compassion not only for yourself but others too.

In Light, Nancy Robinson

I facilitate a vibrational energy process called Elicor Awakenings which includes energy clearing, spiritual coaching, and crystal skull gridding. These energies clear on the mental, physical, spiritual, and emotional levels enabling clients to make changes and bring forward new possibilities. For more information call 817.898.9004, email elicorawakenings@outlook.com, visit www.elicorawakenings.com, Facebook.com/YourEnergyEdge, or write P. O. Box 151021, Arlington, TX 76015.